BIBLIOGRAPHY OF VARIOLATION.

[NOTE.—In these lists, English, German, French or other translations are indicated by E., G., F., . . . respectively, with dates. The American tracts and pamphlets of the eighteenth century are subjoined as "Americana." Certain of these which have been brought to light and identified in Professor Kittredge's interesting paper, "Some Lost Works of Cotton Mather" [Proc. Mass. Histor. Soc., Feb. 1912, pp. 418-479], are marked "K." A star (*) denotes an inaugural dissertation or thesis.]
